

Common Purpose Global Leader Experiences Auckland

What if the world's greatest challenges were in your hands?

Join a Global Leader Experience (GLE) for for students studying at Auckland University of Technology and develop your leadership skills to help influence the future of the world, as well as establish a genuinely global network. Along with your fellow participants, you will play a part in tackling the biggest issues facing business, governments and society today.

A GLE gives you real and practical experiences, instils in you a global perspective and challenges you to adapt and thrive in diverse situations. It equips you with the tools you need to lead

Why should you take part?

- To be a global leader now – develop your skills and Cultural Intelligence (the ability to cross divides and thrive in multiple cultures)
- To change the world – bring fresh solutions to complex problems
- To develop networks – with the breadth of relationships needed for success today
- To build your CV – add a valuable experience that employers are seeking
- To join the Massive Online Innovation Community (MOIC).

“In our ever more complex and interconnected world which has no obvious historical parallel, Common Purpose has developed a breakthrough idea about the importance of Cultural Intelligence in order to navigate both this new world and its contradictions. It has important implications and raises questions about our current systems for those of us involved in educating and developing our future global citizens.”

Rakesh Khurana
Dean, Harvard College

University Partners

We are grateful for the support of Auckland University of Technology as our University partner.

<http://www.aut.ac.nz/>

11 years
50+ Universities
60 programmes
2,000 students

When and where?
14-17 February 2017
Auckland

How much?
FREE

How do I find out more?
commonpurpose.org/GLE/auckland

How do I apply?
commonpurpose.org/GLE/apply

What happens?

The Challenge for 2016/17 is:
“How can you increase civic engagement in your city?”

As a participant, you will explore this major world Challenge from a local perspective. You will meet visionary leaders from global businesses, governments and international not-for-profit organisations to help you and your fellow participants understand the Challenge and find creative ideas to solve it.

Best of all, you won't be alone; you will build your connections and make new friends – and the solutions and knowledge you all build will be passed to participants on other GLEs around the world.

Who could you meet?

During the four days, you will direct your own learning, speaking to leaders from and visiting organisations such as:

- Bank of New Zealand
- Westpac
- Auckland Council
- Auckland South Corrections Facility
- Federation of Maori Authorities Inc
- Leadership New Zealand

- New Zealand South Credit Union
- Immigration New Zealand
- Rainbow Youth
- Abilities Group

Where do we run GLEs?

Common Purpose runs GLEs in Magnet Cities, where large numbers of the world's talent convene to study, so you will meet fellow students from across the globe amongst this diverse group of participants.

A global network

GLEs connect you with other exceptional leaders globally through the MOIC, the online community for Common Purpose alumni.

Through the MOIC you can continue conversations from your programme, start new ones, collaborate with other leaders across the world on universal challenges and move your innovative solutions towards action.

There are now 50,000 Common Purpose alumni across the world who will have the opportunity to join the MOIC providing an ongoing, broad source of ideas that will grow exponentially each year.

“It really has been amazing to work with such a diverse group, but what is incredibly exciting is that we're all on the same page in so many different ways, and now we have the network to continue our conversations.”

Katherine McIndoe, Student, Victoria University of Wellington and Participant, Global Leader Experience Glasgow

“One of the most intense things I've done but also the most satisfying.”

Maria Natasha Tjahjadi, Student, National University of Singapore and Participant, Global Leader Experience Singapore

“The Common Purpose programme took me out of my academic discipline silo and challenged me to work with people I would never normally. It forced me to truly understand where people are coming from, what their worldview is and how to effectively work with such a diverse group. This has hugely benefitted my work at Boston Consulting Group back in Sydney and future career plans in China.

Alice Lang, Student & Rhodes Scholar, University of Oxford and Participant, Global Leader Experience Oxford

Find out more at commonpurpose.org/students